The image shows a close-up of a stone archway made of rough-hewn, light-colored stones. Two arched windows with black frames are set into the arch. The windows look out onto a lush green landscape with rolling hills, dense trees, and a tiled roof in the foreground. The sky is bright and clear.

The image shows a perspective view down a hallway with a series of repeating semi-circular arches on the ceiling. The walls are a warm, yellowish-cream color. On the left, a long, narrow window is partially covered by a light-colored, vertically pleated curtain. To the right, a series of glass doors with dark frames are open, revealing a continuation of the hallway. The lighting is soft and even, highlighting the architectural details and the texture of the curtains.

A photograph of a modern MFOS2 corten steel door set in a rustic stone wall. The door is a dark, narrow vertical unit with a single handle, set within a simple stone frame. The wall is made of rough, light-colored stone and plaster, with a small arched niche to the left of the door. The ground in front is a mix of dirt and small stones.

METALFORM™

The Stories behind Metal Form's precious metal windows and doors tell the perfect relationship between the window and the building.

The window becomes a frame, which highlights the architecture and the interior design project with elegance.
